Szechuen Asks Armistice; All Fighting Ceases

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 4.—According to a telegram from Hankow, dated October 3 and received through railway channels, the Szechuenese have sent a delegate to meet a representative of General Wu Pei-fu at Chingchinkuan and discuss the question of an armistice.

All fighting is reported to have ceased and it is said General Wu will return to Hankow as soon as peace has been arranged.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hankow, Oct. 6.—A wireless report states that General Wu Pei-fu has taken Kueichow and expects to be in Patung by the week-end. Other fronts report substantial progress.

WU DEPLORES CONDITIONS

Ichang, Oct. 6.—General Wu Pei-fu gave a reception to representatives of the foreign community today. In the course of a speech, he deplored the present conditions in which the troops of one province were able to raid another.

He referred to the recent fighting in Hunan and Hupeh. This, he said, was now settled and conditions had improved.

Referring to Szechuen, he declared that that province had purchased arms from Hupeh and had then used them for a raid on the latter province, but they were now retreating, and once they were outside Hupeh he was willing to take up the question of peace and the reopening of communications.

The British Consul made a suitable reply.

The steamer Hsiakiang proceeded to Chungking yesterday morning and the Allan this morning. Neither has returned.

The Hsinhsutung, flying the French flag, is now carrying troops and stores for General Wu Pei-fu to the advance posts. It is expected that Hupeh troops will reoccupy Patung and Kueichow today.

FEAR HAND OF OLD CLIQUE IS OPPOSING LOAN

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 5.—Opposition of the Chinese Bankers' Association to the tobacco and wine loan negotiations now being conducted negotiations now being conducted by Messrs. Hsu Un-yuen, Pan Fu and Chang Shou-ling in behalf of the Chinese Government and Mr. J. J. Abbott in behalf of the Continental and Commercial Bank of Chicago is stated on the best Chinese authority to be inspired by the Old Chiaotung (Communications) Clique, whose leaders Liang Shih-yi, Chow Tze-chi and Yeh Kung-cho control or influence a majority of the banks in the Chinese group.

The attitude of the Chiaotung-guided Bankers' Association is alleged to be a political move based on the hope that the loan will ultimately be concluded in the name of the association, which will then advance the proceeds such as they are, to the Government and thereby have Premier Chin and his associaties at its mercy.

Negotiations to this end are now being conducted in Chinese financial and political circles where the belief is held that the Chinese bankers will achieve their object, with the result that the Chiaotung clique will establish itself in a firm position vis-a-vis the Chin cabinet.

British Query U.S. On Law Which Bars Immigrants

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 6.—The British Government is taking up with Washington the question of the entry of British subjects into the United States.

This is due to the fact that many British and other cases have occurred lately where individuals had obtained the necessary visa to enter America, but found upon arrival in New York that under the recent immigration restriction law the total monthly number of people permitted entry from the country to which they belong had been already reached and that they therefore had become liable to detention on Ellis Island and were subjected to many hardships.

They may alternatively be admitted later or forthwith repatriated.

SOVIET HELPING

Bolshevik Authorities Are Working But Cannot Control Situation

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 7.—In an interview, Dr. Nansen declared that the solution of the world problem of unemployment lay in saving Russia from the grip of famine.

"Everyone must help," Dr. Nansen added. "The Soviet is doing everything possible, but it is incapable of saving its people without foreign aid."

NOT TO WAIT INQUIRY

Brussels, Oct. 6.—The International Russian Famine Relief Conference met yesterday. Eighteen states were represented, including Great Britain, France, United States, Germany and China. M. Delacroix, the Belgian ex-Premier, presided.

The conference discussed Dr. Nansen's and Mr. Hoovers agreements with the Soviet from the standpoints of the efficacy of the guarantees obtained and the best means of distributing supplies. Afterwards it discussed the advisibility of sending a committee of inquiry to Russia.

The speakers strongly favored private initiative without awaiting official support, especially for the relief of children and expressed the opinion that a preliminary inquiry was indispensable before any demand could be made to the respective governments for intervention on a large scale.

FAMINE BOARD MEETS

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Oct. 6.—The first sitting of the International Committee for Russian Famine Relief was held in Brussels this morning. M. Jaspar, the Belgian Minister of Foreign Affairs, welcomed the delegates. M. Delacroix was unanimously elected President.

The delegates reported on the relief work which had been accomplished in their countries by private organisations, Red Cross Committees, religious communities and Infant Welfare societies. They also gave an account of the work that these organisations had planned to do in the future.

The conference decided in principle to put into execution immediate relief measures without waiting for the reports of the committees which had been sent to investigate conditions on the spot. Plans will also be discussed for obtaining the co-operation of Governments and co-ordination of relief work.

If these are successful, official delegates will be sent to Russia and their reports will be considered before relief work is begun.

MUST CLOTHE CHILDREN

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Oct. 1.—The American Famine Relief Administration has on hand about 20,000 poods of soap, which will be used exclusively for children.

"One of our chief objects is to provide the children with clothing and underwear," says the report of the All-Russian Central Famine Relief Committee. "The administration of the Committee intends to distribute to the children cloth to the value of $500,000 gold. Besides this a special purchase of 156,000 arshines of cloth has been made for the children of Volga region. This purchase is already on its way to Moscow."

The American Relief Administration will keep a supply of food-stuffs in its warehouses in the various famine districts and will replenish these supplies regularly by auto truck. On Sept. 23, a number of auto-trucks were received by the Administration. Twenty-five additional trucks and fifteen motor cars are on their way to the famine districts.

The agreement between the American Famine Relief Administration and Mr. Litvinoff was signed at Riga Aug. 20, and on Aug. 23 from Danzig to Riga the first American food transport was sent. On August 26 the second transport was despatched from

SENATE MAY HALT PLANS OF HARDING CONFERENCE

Attitude Not Favorable For Measure To Help Allies Refunding

VOTE UPON TOLLS

President's Request That Canal Matter Be Left Is Disregarded

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Oct. 6.—Reversing the method adopted by President Wilson when he took personal leadership of the American delegation to Paris, President Harding clearly intends to try to carry the Senate along with him either as the negotiations of the Washington Conference proceed or when they are about to reach a conclusion.

It should be remembered in this connection that without the approval of the Senate nothing very definite can be done by the United States. The President has made known that he intends to ask Congress soon to consider, and if possible promptly to pass a measure empowering the Secretary of the Treasury to negotiate the funding of the Allied debts.

It cannot frankly be said, however, that there is much cause for confidence that the Senate will recede from its present attitude of recalcitrancy which is exemplified in the fact that, in spite of President Harding's request that the Senate should postpone action on the measure exempting American shipping from payment of the Panama Canal tolls, the vote on that measure will be demanded on October 10, and it is even likely that the Senate will pass the measure though it will probably be held up in the House of Representatives. The present temper of Congress, particularly the Senate, makes the passage of the bill regarding the funding of the Allied debts very doubtful.

COLT WOULD ARBITRATE

Washington, Oct. 6.—In the debate in the Senate today on the Borah Bill which aims at free tolls for American ships going through the Panama Canal, Senator Colt, Republican, advocated arbitration on the matter with Great Britain. He declared that legislative action would most seriously affect the outcome of the Washington Conference.

Senator Calder, Republican, supported the measure on the ground that it was solely applicable to United States vessels engaged in coastwise and not those in foreign trade, and therefore there was no question of discrimination.

AUSTRALIA HAS DELEGATE

Melbourne, Oct. 6.—In the House of Representatives today, Mr. Hughes, the Prime Minister, announced that consequent to an interchange of cables between Australia and the United States, the Federal Government has appointed the Hon. George Foster Pearce, the Minister of Defense, to represent Australia at the Washington Conference. Mr. Pearce will sit at the same table as the British delegates.

The announcement was disapproved by the Labor members and Mr. Charlton moved that representatives of all parties should be despatched to the Conference. This amendment was defeated by 14 votes to 14.

ATTACHE IS RECALLED

Peking, Oct. 4.—Major-General Kernan will leave Manila October 7 on a tour of inspection of the American troops in North China.

Colonel W. S. Drysdale, American Military Attache in Peking, who was due for transfer back to America in December next, has received instructions to leave as soon as possible.

It is understood that his services are required in connection with the forthcoming conference at Washington. Colonel Drysdale is equally familiar with Siberian and Chinese questions.

SECOND PARTY COMING

Peking, Oct. 4.—It is expected that the second party of the Chinese delegation to Washington will leave for Shanghai on October 10, but Dr. Yen will probably precede them in order to visit his home in Shanghai before embarking for America.

President Hsu has instructed the Cabinet office to issue funds for the expenses of the delegation as soon as possible.

OBATA IN DOUBT WHETHER TO TAKE CHINA'S REPLY

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 7.—It is officially stated that Mr. Obata is still considering whether he will accept the Chinese memorandum.

This diplomatic announcement is no doubt intended to convey to the lay mind that the memorandum and the circumstances connected with it have been referred to Tokio and that no instructions have yet been received from the Japanese Government.

Other foreign Legations do not consider the question of its acceptance very important, but both Chinese and Japanese circles take a much more serious view. It is even suggested that it will be impossible for both Dr. W. W. Yen and Mr. Obata to retain their posts if the note is not accepted.

Independent quarters point out however that Japan's unacceptance might have a bad effect at the Washington Conference, whereas her acceptance of the note would leave the question in much the same position as before the Japanese memorandum sent to China.

WOMAN'S HEARTRENDING PLAINT AGAINST ATAMAN SEMENOFF UP TO CONSULS

Claims Tls. 500,000 For Treatment Which Her Petition Describes As Barbarous And Inhuman. Says She Was Beaten Many Times To Force Her To Disclose Whereabouts Of Husband

MY CHILD WAS STOLEN SHE ASSERTS

Consular Body To Pass On Whether Suit Comes Properly Before Mixed Court—Otherwise She Says She Has No Avenue Of Recourse

Ataman Semenoff, picturesque Cossack chieftain whose adventurous career since the early days of the war has written his name in lurid letters into the minds of the newspaper reading world and who arrived in this city two weeks ago may figure in a further sensation before he leaves Shanghai.

Decision in the matter now rests with the Shanghai Consular Body. If its ruling is in accord with a petition made by local attorneys the one time giant of the Transbaikal will find himself summonsed to the Mixed Court to face startling charges of treachery, brutality and abduction made by a Russian woman who claims that for the space of nearly two years, until she finally managed to escape, she was subjected at Semenoff's orders to tortures of varied and appalling nature, including the deprivation of her infant child. The reason being, she alleges, her husband's discovery and attempt to expose a traitorous plot of Semenoff's to place military plans of the Priamur and Transbaikalia districts in the hands of the Japanese. The suit, if it comes to trial, will claim damages in the amount of half a million taels.

The charges are made by Mrs. Alaxandra Vladimirovna Nahaboff, now rejoined to her husband and facing destitution in Shanghai. Her petition was taken a few days ago to the Mixed Court by Mr. P. F. Faison, who, with the firm of Fleming, Davies and Bryan, is acting in her behalf. When the complaint was filed Mr. Blackburn, senior British Assessor, questioned the right of the court to take jurisdiction in the case and after a consultation with the Senior Consul advised that the question be laid before the Consular Body. Further developments hinge upon the Body's action.

Mrs. Nahaboff's story is graphically told in her petition, which follows, together with a letter addressed to the Senior Consul by her attorneys:

PETITION TELLS STORY

The petition reads:

IN THE INTERNATIONAL MIXED COURT AT SHANGHAI, CHINA

Alexandra Vladimirovna Nahaboff, Plaintiff, vs.
Ataman G. M. Semenoff, Defendant.

PETITION

The plaintiff complaining of the defendant respectfully shows to this Honorable Court:

1.—That the plaintiff and defendant are Russian citizens residing at Shanghai, China, and subject to the jurisdiction of this Honorable Court.

2.—That the plaintiff is the wife of P. S. Nahaboff, a Russian officer under the Kolchak Government, and the mother of three children, viz: Alla, ten years; Vera, three years; and Eugene, one month.

3.—That in September of 1917 the plaintiff, with her husband, P. S. Nahaboff, came to Irkutsk, Siberia, where she remained for one year; that from Irkutsk, Siberia, she and her husband went to Harbin, where they remained for five days; and that from Harbin she went to Dairen with her husband, where she remained until the 23rd day March 1919, when she was summoned by the defendant herein to Harbin and arrested, as more fully hereinafter set forth.

4.—That during the year 1919 P. S. Nahaboff, the husband of the plaintiff herein, was the representative of the Kolchak Government at Dairen, for the purpose of purchasing ammunition for use by the Kolchak forces, and that during said period the Aide de Camp of the defendant herein, who was the superior of the said P. S. Nahaboff, husband of the plaintiff herein, came to the said P. S. Nahaboff and handed him a package of papers, giving him instructions to forward same to the Japanese Minister of War at Tokio; that the said P. S. Nahaboff, instead of following the instructions of the defendant herein, opened said package and examined its contents and found therein secret military plans of the districts of Priamur and Zabaikalia, in Siberia; that as soon as the said P. S. Nahaboff saw said plans he became aware for the first time that the said defendant was a traitor and was forwarding secret plans to the Japanese Government, which he had no right to do; that said P. S. Nahaboff, knowing of the wrongful intention of said defendant herein, failed and neglected to forward said plans to the Japanese Minister of War at Tokio, but instead thereof forwarded the same to Admiral Kolchak at Omsk; that after the forwarding of the said military plans to Admiral Kolchak, the said P. S. Nahaboff discovered an illegal, malicious and vindictive plot and conspiracy on the part of the defendant herein and others to assassinate the said Admiral Kolchak; that immediately thereupon the said P. S. Nahaboff made a written report thereof to Admiral Kolchak and forwarded it to him by his aide-de-camp, one Gidovitch; that the said Gidovitch was arrested by the defendant at Chita, the said report taken away from him, and the courier shot by the order of the said defendant; that Admiral Kolchak, upon learning of the traitorous, deceitful and wrongful conduct of the defendant herein, deprived him of his rank and discharged him from the services of the Kolchak Government, and the said defendant thereafter continued, unlawfully, illegally and wrongfully, without authority, justification, reason or excuse, to carry on and operate against the said Kolchak Government.

5.—That the defendant herein, upon discovering that the said P. S. Nahaboff had failed to carry out his instructions and had forwarded said secret plans and documents to Admiral Kolchak and exposed to the said Admiral Kolchak, his treacherous, deceitful and wrongful conduct, did then and there become greatly incensed and did conceive in his mind the evil, wrongful, malicious and malignant intention of ruining and destroying the said P. S. Nahaboff, and in pursuance of said intention did on or about the 16th day of March 1919 order the said P. S. Nahaboff to proceed immediately to Harbin, which said order the said P. S. Nahaboff carried out, and that in further pursuance of said intention the said defendant herein had the said P. S. Nahaboff illegally arrested and unlawfully detained, without reason, justification or excuse; that the said P. S. Nahaboff was beaten, bruised and assaulted and was given no food nor water for seven days after he was arrested; that on or about the 4th day of April, 1920, the said P. S. Nahaboff escaped; that when the defendant ascertained that the said P. S. Nahaboff had escaped he immediately caused the plaintiff herein to be illegally arrested and unlawfully detained; that at the time of her arrest the said plaintiff herein was nursing her child, Vera, then eight months old; that upon her illegal arrest she was deprived of her child, taken to an armored car and locked up in a small room, without food or water; that she was kept in said room for a period of approximately five days, being taken out at intervals and beaten until she was unconscious, in the attempt to extract from her the whereabouts of her husband; that the plaintiff herein constantly re-iterated that she did not know of the whereabouts of her husband, but, in spite of said repeated statements that she did not know the whereabouts of her husband, the said defendant continued to cause the said plaintiff to be beaten until she became unconscious; that after said period of five days her child was returned to her; that thereafter for a period of seven days the said defendant caused the said plaintiff to be taken out of the City at dawn and placed before a squad of soldiers with loaded rifles and told that if she did not tell the whereabouts of her husband she would be shot; that said soldiers went so far as to aim their rifles at her in a threatening manner, causing her to become greatly frightened and terrified, and upon one occasion to faint; that said defendent herein, being unable to extract from plaintiff the whereabouts of her husband by the cruel, barbarous and inhuman methods aforesaid, caused her to be transferred to Chita, and did thereat, upon the failure to extract from her the knowledge of the whereabouts of her husband, steal, purloin and take away her child, Vera, whom she has never found; that the said defendent during the time she was at Chita, after having cruelly and barbarously deprived her of her child, caused her to be placed under close surveillance for a period of eighteen months; that after having been kept under surveillance at Chita for a period of eighteen months she managed to escape, on account of the Semenoff forces being driven from Chita, when after some months she found her husband, then residing at Dairen.

6th. That on account of the wrongful, malicious, malignant and wilful actions of the defendant herein the plaintiff has been greatly damaged in health and has been caused great and untold mental and physical suffering to her great damage and injury and detriment, in the sum of Taels Five Hundred Thousand (Tls. 500,000.00).

Wherefore, the plaintiff prays judgment against the said defendant for the sum of Teals Five Hundred Thousand (Tls. 500,000.00), together with costs, interest, and such other and further relief as to this Honorable Court may seem meet.

Shanghai, October 4th, 1921.

(Sig.) Fleming, Davies & Bryan,
P. F. Faison.
Attorneys for Plaintiff.

Following is the letter asking the Consular Body to rule on the matter of jurisdiction:

Sir E. D. H. Fraser, K.C.M.G.,
H. B. M. Consul General,
Shanghai.

Sir: I have the honor to inform you that on the day before yesterday afternoon Messrs. Fleming, Davies and Bryan and myself, acting for and on behalf of a Mrs. Nahaboff filed a complaint in the International Mixed Court at Shanghai against one Ataman Semenoff for damages in the sum of Tls. 500,000 suffered by her as a consequence of maltreatment of her person and the abduction of her infant girl, Vera, at Harbin and Chita in the years 1919 and 1920.

Mr. Blackburn informed me this morning that, after consultation with you, you and he questioned the propriety and right of the International Mixed Court to assume jurisdiction of this case, and suggested that I address a protest to you and ask that a meeting of the Consular Body be called and the question be laid before it.

It is alleged in the complaint that at the time of the commission of the acts complained of Semenoff had been dismissed from the Kolchak Army and was exercising no legal military authority. In addition to this, counsel for the plaintiff adopt the position that even were it to be proved that Semenoff was clothed with such a de facto military authority as to vest in him a military status, even so, the civil authorities would have jurisdiction of the subject matter of this action for the reason that the acts complained of were unnecessary and in excess of any power or authority incident to or growing out of such de facto military status.

The position will be taken that something more than the mere assumption of military power and the donning of a uniform is necessary in order to create a military status. It is alleged in the complaint that at the time of the commission of the acts complained of Semenoff had not only planned to assassinate Admiral Kolchak but was a traitor to his own Government.

These are some of the elements of this case which will be relied upon by the plaintiff to prove that Semenoff is not entitled to claim a military status in order to protect himself from his invasion of the plaintiff's rights.

I wish to direct your attention to the fact, that if it should be decided that this action cannot be instituted in the International Mixed Court at Shanghai, the plaintiff will be deprived of all redress against the defendant. Also I wish to state that I believe it cannot be questioned, if Mrs. Nahaboff and the defendant herein were to find themselves within the jurisdiction of the British courts in England, that the British courts would assume jurisdiction of this case and decide the question of the military status of Semenoff after proofs had been offered to the Court on that point and not before.

Mrs. Nahaboff and her husband find themselves today in Shanghai without sufficient funds to defray their ordinary and necessary living expenses. Their condition is most deplorable and if they cannot enjoy their rights in Shanghai they will be effectually defeated of all redress for their wrongs while this Semenoff on the other hand, will have found for himself in Shanghai a haven where he is beyond the reach of the law.

I, therefore, would request that this matter, involving as it does such real rights and principles be submitted without delay to the Consular Body for its decision.

Very respectfully yours,
Fleming, Davies and Bryan,
P. F. Faison, Attys. for Plaintiff.

HERE IS CHEAP TRAVEL, 1,000 MILES, 600 CTS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 4.—Fourteen Russian soldiers who have just completed the journey from Urumchi, Sinkiang, to Kalgan upon a budget of six hundred coppers each probably hold the long-distance record for inexpensive travel. The party consisted of four officers and ten men, who have spent one year and eight months en route from Russian Turkestan.

The head of the party, a captain is minus an arm, and his wound is not yet healed. He is a very intelligent man by the name of Fatgai, which is pronounced nothing like it is spelled, and whose home is in Tashkent onthe Caspian Sea. He speaks very fair English, which he picked up from a fellow-Russian and the British missionaries in Lanchowfu during his brief stay there.

The party was entrained at Fengchen, on the border of Shansi and Inner Mongolia, under the guard of some Fengtien officers who have been despatched to take them over. They were rejoiced to see a white face, and plied the correspondent for information as to their probable destiny.

They were especially fearful lest they might be sent back to Russia to fall into the handsof the Bolsheviks. They were much disappointed at the delay at Kalgan, as they had been promised direct transportation to Peking. Apparently the Chinese officials are detaining them at Kalgan until they can decide what to do with them. The men profess to be skilled munitions makers, and have asked to be employed by the Government in the Peking arsenal at $20 Mexican monthly. The officials are inclined to accept their offer.

Apparently no great fear of these men was entertained by the Chinese, as one of them was still carrying an old-fashioned Russian six-shooter until this morning, when he sold it to an officer of his guard. The party was sent out of Urumchi by Tuchun Yang of Sinkiang, after having wintered in that city. Yang apparently acted thus in order to diminish the menace of a Red Russian invasion of his capital, as Bolsheviks hadalready descended upon the western Sinkiang cities in pursuit of reactionary soldiers and officials. At Lanchowfu, the party found the Russian Imperial Consul-General of Kashgar, who had fled before them and taken up his residence in the capital of Kansu.

Through his intercession the Kansu authorities provided them with transportation to Suiyuan, where the Chinese, fearing that they might break away if placed upon the train, took them overland in carts parallel with the railway as far as Fengchen. These Fengtien officers, who are accustomed to handling helpless Russians and are not afraid of their proving difficult, took them over.

The men seem to be warmly enough clothed for this time of the year in part-Chinese, part-Russian garb, and are, with the exception of the captain, whose arm stub is still suppurating, in apparently good health. The Chinese have provided them with food, although at times they have not received more than one meal a day, and that consisting of a few "hard-tack" native cakes.

FEED 50,000 NOW

On Sept. 6 the American Administration opened at Petrograd the first food station for children. At the present moment the American Administration is feeding over 50,000 children. On August 29 the Administration despatched the first food train from Riga to Moscow. This and later shipments were immediately transshipped to the Volga region.

According to the American Famine Relief Administration the people of the entire United States are helping the Russian famine sufferers. The Administration is raising its funds entirely by private donations of Americans.

The Executive of the Central All-Russian Famine Relief Committee has approved the plan for establishing permanent relief stations. The plan calls for registration of the destitute so as to afford real help. It has been found necessary to feed 500,000 "Red Star" mothers of infants and children of soldiers.

The report of the Humbolt Machine Construction Institute in declaring a dividend of ten percent, as compared with a previous six percent, states that an unprecedented number of orders have been received from abroad, including one for 17,000,000 marks, of which 50 percent has already been paid.

The Offenbach Rubber Works has increased its share capital from 8,000,000 to 17,000,000 marks.

GERMANS HERE STILL SUBJECT TO MIXED COURT

Jurisdiction Holds Pending Establishment Of Special Tribunals, Is Ruling

The Mixed Court must have jurisdiction over German citizens in the International Settlement until such time as the special system of judicature provided for in the Sino-German agreement has been established, according to a ruling handed down yesterday by Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Li.

The ruling is contained in a decision against a demurrer filed by Mr. M. L. Heen in behalf of W. Futterer, German defendant in a civil action brought by X. Bittel. The demurrer raised the point that the Mixed Court has no jurisdiction over Germans since the signing of the agreement between China and Germany.

Arguing in suppport of his motion Mr. Heen quoted from a draft of a letter sent by W. W. Yen, Minister of Foreign Affairs, to H. von Borch, German representative, last May. The clauses, which counsel stated were later incorporated in the agreement signed by the two countries are as follows:

"Law suits of the Germans in China shall be tried in modern courts, according to modern codes, with the right of appeal, and in accordance with the regular legal procedure. During the period of litigation the assistance of German lawyers and interpreters who have been duly recognised by the courts is permitted."

And "In regard to the law suits in the Mixed Court in which Germans are involved, either as one or both of the parties, the Chinese government will in future try to find a solution so as to insure justice and fairness to all the parties concerned."

It was evident, Mr. Heen contended, that the government contemplated some changes at least in the treatment of German cases and it appeared from the facts that Germans were entitled to the facilities of specially constituted courts in Chinese territory. As far as the International Settlement was concerned it was quite clear that in the minds of the governments concerned the Mixed Court was not satisfactory and so long as no changes had been made in its make-up it did not fill the requirements. It had no machinery for appeal. The fact that there was no properly constituted court was a violation of the obligation by China and no fault of the Germans. China was bound to a solution and in counsel's opinion the court should read into the second clause that part of the first touching upon the right of appeal.

Mr. Heen contended that Germans may not now be considered in the same category with unrecognised foreigners since duly appointed Consular representatives are on duty in the country. He regarded the question as one for diplomatic discussion between the governments concerned and held that the Consular Body's authority does not extend over it.

It was his understanding, Mr. Heen stated, that a written expression had been sent by Mr. Yen, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, to the German Consul to the effect that the Mixed Court was not competent, and if the Court had no knowledge of this he suggested communication with the Chinese officials. Counsel said he did not hesitate to meet the case on its merits, but raised the point of jurisdiction as one which should be definitely decided.

Mr. Bittel opposed in person the motion for dismissal of the case. He pointed out that unless the Mixed Court took jurisdiction Germans in the Settlement would be subject to no form of legal procedure.

The Court retired briefly and then rendered its decision.

"We cannot admit the possibility of an interregnum in the administration of justice," Assessor Blackburn announced. "We cannot admit that any person in the Settlement can at any moment be subject to the jurisdiction of no existing court. The setting up of a new system of judicature is a matter not of a few days. It may take months or years. The Sino-German agreement says the German cases shall be tried by new or modern courts, but until such a court, or some other court, is established having jurisdiction over Germans in the Settlement the Mixed Court is bound to take jurisdiction. It is for the German authorities, by diplomatic methods, to see that the proper courts are established without delay."

The action bringing up the point is a suit for $17,163 which Bittel alleges is due owing to breach of a verbal agreement of transfer of the butchery at 1105 Broadway, which he claims to have purchased for $6,000 in February, 1919, and which he was to resell to the defendant when the latter returned to China. The Court have twenty days from date for the filing of an answer to plaintiff's petition.

CHINESE UNION OF TRADE BODIES IS NOW IN SESSION

Yesterday 63 delegates from the Provinces of Shantung, Anhui, Yunnan, Honan, Kiangsu, Chekiang, Chihli, Szechuen, Fukien, Kiangsi, Hupeh and Shansi attended the third meeting of the National Union of Chambers of Commerce, the inauguration having taken place on Wednesday and the election of officers having been completed on Thursday. Both Mr. C. C. Nieh and Mr. Tsai Fu-chen, nominated permanent chairman and vice-chairman by 137 and 108 votes respectively, were absent, each having addressed a letter of resignation to the assembly.

Mr. Nieh said in his letter that on account of illness caused by over-work he has been advised by his doctor to leave Shanghai for a month's rest to recuperate his health to avoid more serious developments. He proposed that Mr. Tsai Fu-chen, "a man of rich experience and eminent virtue and wide prestige," be appointed his successor and that a new vice-chairman be created.

Mr. Tsai excused himself on the ground that his talents and experiences did not fit him for the important post of vice-chairman.

It was decided at the meeting that both letters of resignation should be returned to the sender and a delegation of eight persons including Dr. F. C. Tong, elected vice-chairman by 89 votes was nominated to interview Mr. Nieh and Mr. Tsai to persuade them to assume their new responsibilities.

The program intended for yesterday was postponed to today. The rules of procedure, the holding of a joint session with the Delegates from the Provincial Educational Associations to discuss Pacific Conference Problems are two of the main items.

Some of the papers before the Conference regarding the Pacific Conference are those dealing with the delegation, army reduction, national unification by the people's efforts, the refusal of direct negotiations over Shantung and revision of commercial treaties.

CHINA AND SOVIET MAKE PROGRESS IN PARLEYS ON TRADE

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 6.—Negotiations between the Soviet Government and the Chinese Consul-general at Moscow have made considerable progress of late, according to telegrams received here from the Consul-general, and the outlook for an agreement looking to the resumption of trade between the two countries is now regarded as favorable.

It is, accordingly, understood in Peking official circles that Mr. Litvinoff, representing the Soviet Government, left Moscow on September 17 on route to Peking where he proposes to enter into formal negotiations with the Foreign Office for the conclusion of a trade agreement. It is expected that the Soviet delegate will reach Peking during the latter half of this month.

Gabbutt Praised For Rounding Up Armed Robbers

Mixed Court Assessor Commends Work Done In Cases By Yangtszepoo Detective

High commendation for his work in rounding up armed robber gangs operating the Settlement was accorded Detective Sergeant J. F. Gabbutt by Assessor Hutchinson of the Mixed Court yesterday at the conclusion of a case which resulted in three men being sent to the Arsenal to be shot.

Two of the accused were captured by Detective Sergeant Gabbutt after a struggle on the Yangtszepoo Road two weeks ago. They were members of a band of six men, whom he recognised on the street, and one was armed with a murderous looking iron bludgeon and the other with a knife at the time. Another member of the gang was subsequently arrested and all admitted taking part in four armed robberies. Shots were fired in each instance but no one was injured. In one robbery the gang secured $122 worth of jewelry and in the other cases the amounts secured were small.

"The Court is once more pleased," Assessor Hutchinson said in giving judgment, "to put on record its appreciation of the services rendered to the community by Detective Sergeant Gabbutt for the rounding up and arresting of armed robber groups operating in the Settlement."

FOOTBALL ASS'N STARTS THE SEASON WITH 14 CLUBS; PLAY COMMENCES ON OCT. 29TH

Informal Meeting Of Delegates Indicates Successful Season

The 1921 football league will have two divisions of seven clubs each. Play will commence on Saturday, October 29. Eight to nine grounds will be available throughout the season. The draw for the first day's matches already has been made. Teams are to commence training at once.

These are the points of the preliminary informal meeting of delegates of the various football organisations of Shanghai held at the Cathedral School rooms last night. Two dozen football enthusiasts attended the meeting. Eight clubs had qualified delegates in attendance. Mr A. J. Stewart presided, while Mr. W. C. G. Clifford acted as secretary pro tem.

The teams entered in the league and the delegates which represented them are:

Shanghai Police Recreation Club, Mr. W. W. Kay.

Shanghai Football Club, first and second, Mr. Clifford.

Shanghai Recreation Club, first and second, Mr. E. J Cooke.

Portuguese Sporting Association, first and second, Mr. A. W. Guittierez.

Marine Engineers, Mr. D. M. Couch.

Customs Service, Mr. R. M. Ogden.

Jewish Football Club, Mr. H. Whitgob.

Rangers, Mr. C. R. S. Cooper.

Public School, Mr. E. W. Petersen.

Electricity Dept., Mr. A. L. Biggs; and the Xaviers Football Club.

The meeting, white it started the football arolling for the fall season, was a more get-together, and get-goin' affair. October 24 was set as the date for the regular annual general meeting of the football association. It is intended at that time to elect the year's officers, to adopt and issue a permanent list of fixtures, to allocate grounds for the fixed matches, to appoint referees and to conduct the other business of the association.

Mr. Clifford predicted a successful season. He offered the larger list of entrants as proof of his optimism. He urged an early start in training and at play. He submitted a list of the 14th teams divided into two groups, as follows:

1st div'n.	2nd div'n.
Recs, 1st.	Jewish
Police	Rangers
Xaviers	Public School
Portuguese, 1st.	Recs, 2nd
Engineers	Portuguese, 2nd
Customs	Football club 2nd
Football club, 1st.	Electricity Dept.

The division of the teams was voted for unanimously.

Grounds available this fall are the Shanghai Cricket Club, the Recs field, the Police Field, the Polo grounds, the Widow's Monument field, and three fields at Hongkew park, with perhaps one other not yet assured.

The draw for the first matches on Oct. 29 resulted:

FIRST DIVISION

Police vs. Football Club.
Xaviers vs. Recs.
Portuguese vs. Engineers.
Customs, bye.

SECOND DIVISION

Jewish vs. Rangers.
Public School vs. Recs.
Portuguese vs. Football Club.
Electric Dept., bye.

Allocations of grounds for the first matches will be made later.

FOOTBALLER'S ROMANCE

How He Won Business Fame, A Wife, and £13,000

A romantic story lies behind the legacy of £13,000 left to Mr. Wattie Aitkenhead by the late mayor of Blackburn, Alderman Cotton, says The Daily Chronicle.

About 16 years ago Mr. Aitkenhead went to Blackburn from the Glasgow district as junior professional footballer for Blackburn Rovers, one of his stipulations being that work should be found for him.

Mr. Cotton, then chairman of the Rovers, gave him a clerkship in one of his many concerns. Aitkenhead "made good" in football, playing as an international for Scotland, and in a few years he wooed and won Mr. Cotton's youngest daughter.

He was made manager of the largest and most up-to-date mill, and when Mr. Cotton's health failed he assumed chief direction of his concerns.

The legacy is specified as a "recognition of long and faithful service."

Walls Bulge As Gamblers Flock To Mixed Court

The walls of the upper courtroom at the Mixed Court had a distinct bulge to them yesterday when most of 117 men rounded up by Hongkew police in a gambling raid Thursday afternoon were ushered in and tried to get into the dock.

The police evidence, outlined by Detective Sergeant Conduit showed that the place raided, which is in an alleyway off Woosung Road, was plentifully equipped with exits and warning signals, which evidently fell down in efficiency Thursday afternoon.

Three men were charged as principals in the running of the Hwo Wei lottery which was being so extensively patronised and the chief of these was given three months' imprisonment, the others drawing a month each.

One of the latter, questioned, declared that he was in no way attached to the gaming venture but had been idling before a doorway when he was caught on the crest of the mob trying to escape and borne into the arms of the police.

Those patrons of the lottery who appeared to face the charge were fined $5 each, the absentees forfeiting $10 bail per person.

TOMORROW WILL SEE CLOSING OF RECS 1921 RINKS

Club Bowlers To Stage Varied Program For Final Day Of Sport

BY "THE SHOT"

Tomorrow will see the Recs close their official season when a varied program will be staged. The green will be open throughout the day and members interested are asked to assist the committee by playing off the pairs and singles handicap so as to leave the afternoon free for the closing events.

The ladies have been putting in quite a lot of practice during the week and the event for the fair sex should be quite interesting. The conditions for this competition are four woods to be bowled, two on the back hand and two on the fore to a placed jack, the competition totalling the least aggregate distance from the jack to win.

Another interesting competition will be the 'mixed pairs," the conditions of which are as follows:

Ladies will draw their partners names and the pairs drawn will play a match on the knockout principle—six ends—2 woods each.

The visitors have not been forgotten and a drawing to the jack and circles has been arranged. This should prove very interesting and a hearty invitation is extended to all members of other bowling clubs.

Tea will be provided and on the completion of the events the prizes will be presented.

The Juniors are completing their club events this week-end and will probably close their official season on the 15 inst.

Upper V. Form Wins Public School Boxing Competition

Form Upper Five of the Shanghai Public School was awarded the J. Spunt trophy for its all round superiority at boxing yesterday evening at the conclusion of the second day's program of inter-form bouts. The form efficiency was rated by the referee and judges at 6½ points, as compared with 3 5-7 for Form Lower Four, the next highest scoring form.

In the total of points scored by the individual boys of the two forms, the competition resulted in a tie, with 26 points to each form. The Form averages, however gave the Upper Five boys the honor of being the first winner of the cup.

Yesterday's bouts, held in the Public School, were even better attended than the program of the opening day. The boxing was evenly matched, and many good contests resulted.

The feature of the card was a knockout administered by Madar to Perry, both of Lower IV in the third round of the last bout. The knockout was a left hook to the jaw. Perry took the count.

The bout, with its fast and aggressive boxing by both in the first two rounds, and the sudden ending in the third furnished the best boxing interest of the program. Perry had the advantage in the opening rounds. His footwork and jabbing were clever. Madar however was the stronger. When he landed a blow he had lots of steam behind it. His knockout hook was a sharp and strong blow, quickly delivered and accurately placed.

The opening bout between Poliak of Lower V and Karanjia of Upper IV went to a draw. There was much clinching. Honors were even throughout. Both boys showed excellent style and ability. They were each awarded extra points for their performance.

Siemssen of Upper V, outclassed Mahon of VI in the second bout. It was Mahon's first time in a ring. He was very willing to fight but Siemssen's ring craft gave him a walkover. The towel was thrown in by Mahon's seconds in the third round.

Herzberg, Upper II and Nobleston, Upper 5, twin brothers of two of the same name who competed Thursday gave a nice exhibition of harmless boxing. The decision went to the latter with extra points to both for ability.

The decision was given Pinkham of Upper IV in his bout with Beesley of Lower IV. Pinkham had the best ring form. He brought the blood from Beesley's nose in the first and fourth rounds, Each boy scored a knockdown.

Reddick and Fonseca, of Lower and Upper II respectively, the two smallest boys participating in the competition went four rounds of fast and wild boxing to a decision for Reddick. The latter was the more skilful, though Fonseca displayed considerable ring quality. Each boy was awarded extra points for ability.

The competition ended with the Madar-Perry knockout bout. The trophy will be presented to the winning form next week.

He is a retired sea captain and declares he will not give up his present post, in spite of his winning the large fortune. Humorist is the horse that brought the fortune to Captain Jones!

American Indian Ball Team Held On Ship In Japan

Tokio, Sept. 30.—Ten American Indian baseball players are chafing on board the O. S. K. steamer Mexico Maru in Yokohama waiting for permission to land and join the other American ball teams now in Japan in games with the Japanese nines. The Indians, who are former students of the Sherman Institute of Riverside, California, were so anxious to embark that they neglected to obtain passports or other papers which would gain them admittance to Japan.

Their case was taken up by the American Consulate-General in Yokohama, which is requesting the Japanese Government to permit the men to land. As soon as the formalities are completed, it is expected that as a courtesy the men will be permitted to land.

DAIREN CHINESE MERCHANTS PLAN TO BOYCOTT YEN

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 5.—Substitution of the Yen for the silver dollar on the Dairen exchange market has resulted in a conference, which is now being held at Mukden, of more than thirty Chinese Chambers of Commerce located in the three Eastern Provinces. The conference is being held at the invitation of the Mukden General Chamber of Commerce.

The conference, which is said to be representative of Chinese business in Manchuria, voted unanimously against the acceptance of the Yen as legal tender and, according to reports received here from Mukden today, reached the following further decisions:

1. That all Chinese merchants should withdraw from the Dairen Exchange.
2. That Chinese merchants should not contract loans with Japanese banks in Manchuria.
3. That the Yen should not be accepted as legal tender in Manchuria.
4. That all Chinese commercial transactions should be made in silver,
5. That a Chinese stock exchange should be established at Newchwang, and
6. That those Chinese merchants who have deposits in Japanese banks in Manchuria should withdraw them and hereafter refrain from doing business with such Japanese banks.

In Peking commercial circles it is pointed out that the decisions reached by the Mukden Conference of Chinese Chambers of Commerce in Manchuria, while praiseworthy from a purely patriotic viewpoint, are not practicable in their entirety.

The Manchurian Chambers of Commerce undoubtedly control much of the big business in Fengtien, Kirin and Heilungkiang Provinces, but they do not control all of it. And, as long as there are Chinese merchants willing to accept the Yen as legal tender, to borrow from Japanese banks and to have current accounts with these institutions, the only sufferers will be those merchants who have agreed to refrain from all financial dealings with the Japanese.

Own Wireless And Air Service For Australia Urged

(Reuter's Service)

Melbourne, Oct. 6.—Mr. Hughes, the Australian Prime Minister, in the House of Representatives today, reviewing the work of the Imperial Conference, urged the adoption of an Australasian scheme of wireless communication with England as preferable to the Norman scheme of relays.

He submitted a proposal for an experimental air service for two years at a cost of £250,000 by utilising four airships from England with mooring masts at Cairo, Karachi, Singapore and in Australia.

He said that if long distance air communication proved practicable, it would be unnecessary for Australia to advertise for immigrants.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 6.—An authoritative denial has been issued of a sensational statement in the press, declaring that the United States has been pressing Great Britain for repayment of war debts.

It is emphasised that the United States would not desire to prejudice the issues of the Washington Conference by raising such an important and embarrassing subject at present.

It is pointed out that, while President Harding opposed the question of war debts being discussed at the Washington Conference, he is heartily in favor of easy payments for the benefit of the debtor nations

This news was contained in a telegram received last night by Mr. Hans Berents, the well known Shanghai engineer, to whom Dr. Waddell has paid the high compliment of asking him to come to Pukow for a consultation on this great traffic problem.

Dr. Waddell travelled from Peking to Pukow in a special car which was placed at his disposal by the Chinese Government in whose behalf he is acting as advisor in the Yellow River Bridge matter now pending in Peking. He probably will be at Pukow three or four days. Dr. Waddell had been expected in Hankow to attend the meeting of engineers now in session. He was to have read a paper before that assemblage on the possibility of bridging the Yangtsze there.

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have paregoric or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the sleep from which there is no waking. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children unless you or your physician know of what it is composed. Castoria does not contain narcotics.

A perfect Paint of smooth surface for Interior Wall Coating

The surface obtainable with this paint is smooth and flat, i.e., it is not a grainy, dead, lifeless finish, but of a velvety texture. Excellent results with Super Durable Flat Finish are easily obtained, irrespective of the skill of the user, and an elaborate preparation of the surface is usually quite unnecessary.

Super Durable Flat Finish has been tried on non-absorbent surfaces of all kinds and where distemper and oil paint have proved prone to shell or flake off, it has always adhered. It gives a lasting finish of surprising beauty.

Five Men Taken In Big Opium Seizure Discharged

Court Uses Occasion Of Hearing To Sound Warning To Drug 'Sharks'

A warning to "opium sharks" who hang about the Mixed Court when opium cases are being tried was sounded by Assessor Blackburn yesterday at the conclusion of the case involving the $384,000 worth of the drug seized by the police two weeks ago while it was being transported along North Szechuen Road on a Watson's Mineral Water Company motor lorry.

The five defendants in the case, who were aboard the truck at the time the seizure was made, were dismissed for lack of evidence to prove that they were in any way interested in the contraband and the opium ordered confiscated.

"I would like to say," remarked Assessor Blackburn when judgment had been given, "that in all the opium cases heard here there are always opium 'sharks' about. I see three of them who speak English in this court today. I hope they will take notice of what has been said."

TO REWARD INFORMERS

The question of rewards for informers who are instrumental in effecting opium seizures was brought before the Court—Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Li—by Mr. R. C. Faithfull, Police Legal Adviser, who spoke of it at the request of the Commissioner of Police in order to facilitate breaking up the various smuggling rings.

This application was endorsed by the Rev. Frank Rawlinson, for the International Anti-opium Association, who stated that copies of Chinese regulations governing the matter of such rewards had been secured from Peking and had been put in the hands of the Council. The Assessor said that he had no information on the subject but would investigate and take it into consideration.

Evidence in the case was presented by Detective Sergeants Tinkler and Balchin, who effected the seizure, and the prosecution was conducted by Mr. Faithfull. Messrs. G. D. Musso and J. Em. Lemiere appeared for the defendants and Mr. C. P. Holcomb watched the case on behalf of the Watson Mineral Company.

The principal facts in the case have been previously given. The truck was boarded by the police, who had received information concerning the cargo, at the corner of Range and North Szechuen Roads. It contained 24 large packing cases, each enclosing 160 pounds of Persian opium which Mr. W. A. Roberts, of the Customs, yesterday described as being possibly two or three years old.

WATCHMAN CAN'T BE FOUND

Evidence brought out by the defense tended to show that the defendants, coolies, were merely placed in charge of the load by a Chinese night watchman at the mineral water factory who has since absconded and that they knew nothing of the character of the cargo. The Chinese coolie informer who testified stated that about a month previous to the big capture a similar load of cases had been taken away early one morning. He accompanied it to a house on Avenue Edward VII—the building had since been torn down—and received $2 cumshaw.

On the occasion on which the opium fell into the hands of the police, according to one of the defendants, the truck was to follow a ricsha bearing a man named Chu, a friend of Tsang Li-poo, the missing watchman. This evidence conflicted with that of the police, who testified that the truck was travelling at a rate of 15 miles an hour and that there was no ricsha in sight at the time it reached the Range Road corner.

Mr. Charles Piens, manager of the Watson Mineral Water Company, identified three of the men in the dock as employes of the company, two being delivery coolies and the other a chauffeur. The other two, whom the defense declared to be probationary workers only recently taken on, he did not recognise. After working hours, the witness said, there could not be any moving or borrowing of the lorries except by collusion between the Chinese watchman—who has disappeared—and the Indian watchman who is in charge. It was not the practise to lend the lorries and if this had been done it was without the management's consent. He knew nothing of a lorry having been taken out on a previous trip, the one mentioned by the coolie informer.

Counsel for the defense, while frankly admitting that there had been "rascality," submitted that blame must fall upon the missing watchman, the defendants having only acted upon his instructions and in complete ignorance. He asked a dismissal, which the Court, on the evidence, agreed.

Baker, American Red Cross Famine Relief Director, Tells How Work Was Done

Work Of Providing Aid For Starving Hordes Best Accomplished By Providing Labor For Workers Is His View

Flood and famine relief through work is the only logical manner in which to aid the millions of sufferers from floods in China, according to Mr. J. E. Baker, the man who has been in charge of Red Cross relief in China and the construction of the Red Cross system of roads.

Mr. Baker, with Mrs. Baker and their three children, sail on the Golden State today for a vacation in the United States after a short visit in Shanghai.

"My experience has shown me that giving free relief is not successful," Mr. Baker said. "Organisations which hand out funds and food indiscriminately do not give the maximum relief to those who really need it, and the relief workers are too often imposed upon by many who do not need relief."

Mr. Baker also declared that the expenditure of famine relief funds during the recent famine period has been conducted in an excellent manner, and estimated that relief had been given in some measure to more than 15,000,000 people.

"For the first time in the history of famines and floods in China funds collected for relief work have been audited by foreign auditors," Mr. Baker asserted. "We know where the majority of the money collected went, which is much more than has ever been known before."

Mr. Baker then explained the expenditure of funds as follows:

INTERNATIONAL SUPERVISION

The customs surtax, on which was based the loan of $4,000,000, was to be turned over to and administered by the United International Societies. The surtax amounted to the loan figure of $4,000,000, and Mr. Baker estimates that an additional $4,000,000 will be raised if the surtax is continued until the end of the year. The diplomatic corps has the handling of the fund, according to Mr. Baker and the money is deposited in foreign banks in China.

The surtax on communications, including passengers, goods, telegrams and postage, has raised $400,000 per month. Of that amount $100,000 per month has gone to the National Famine Relief Commission, administered by Chinese. An accounting of expenditures of the fund has been made in Peking Chinese papers, Mr. Baker understands.

The remainder has gone to construction work on the Chefoo-Weihsien and Tehchow-Lintsing roads, the money being used as relief money through giving work to thousands of sufferers. Mr Baker estimates that each road has received approximately $1,000,000 from the fund.

At the present time Mr. Baker estimates funds on hand which could be expended for famine relief at something over $1,000,000.

"I have no figures on the expenditure of the funds diverted to the National Famine Relief Commission," Mr. Baker said, "and I likewise have no figures on the Likin fund or local telephone taxes, as they are collected in each of the provinces. At the same time there are local funds in Honan, Peking, Shantung and Tientsin, amounting to probably $1,000,000."

WORK BEST PLAN

Mr. Baker declares that relief through work is the best manner of administering aid because it makes the money available go farther, weeds out those who are not in actual need, does away with most of the graft, and puts the people in a better physical condition.

"By making the people work for their own relief by building roads, or other public improvements, the greater part of the graft, charged against former relief funds, is done away with," Mr. Baker said. "Local magistrates in the past have made a good thing out of floods because they got their 'rake off' when the money was distributed. By relief through work the people are given food for their labor, and the local magistrates must wield a pick and shovel to get anything out of it.

"The local magistrates in many instances have fought our method of administering relief for that reason. Even by work we have had our troubles as some magistrates drove off workers from other districts by force so that their own people would have a monopoly.

"It doesnt cost as much to distribute food to the workers, pay engineers and buy tools, as it does to feed the large number who are not in actual want, but who benefit by the free distribution of grain or money—and you would be surprised to know the large number, even in famine districts, who are not suffering.

RATION ABOVE NEED

"At Paotingfu for instance where it was said thousands were suffering for want of food we were able to secure only 800 workers to work for five catties of grain a day. And they only worked a day and a half, striking then for 7 catties of grain a day. We told them that if they weren't hungry enough to work for 5 catties of grain a day they were not starving and didn't need us. Miss Hartley Embrie, dietitian of the Peking Union Medical College, has estimated that a working man can live on 1 2-3 catties of food a day. On our roadwork we paid them just a little more than enough to get by on, and then every two weeks gave them twice as much as they ate in those two weeks for their families.

"At one time 95,000 men were working under such circumstances in four provinces—30,000 in Shansi, 17,000 in Shantung, 7,000 in Honan and the remainder in Chihli. The number varied according to the need for food and the amount the workers actually needed.

"And last, but not least by any means, was the health problem. In Shantung 61,000 men worked for 5 months on our rations and only five deaths resulted. That is much under the average. In other places where they ate their own food and were paid in money disease multiplied and the death rate mounted."

Mr. Baker and his family will visit in California and in his old home in Wisconsin before returning to China.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

Shanghai, October 7, 1921

Spot and forward bar silver were each down 7/8d. in London yesterday.

The New York price declined to 69⅞ cents and the London-New York rate improved to 377.78.

The official Sterling rate here was dropped to 3/11, Gold Dollars to 74, the Franc rate to 1040 and the Yen rate was raised to 64.

The market, while somewhat uncertain at the opening, was steady throughout the day and closed on the firm side.

At the opening business of Sterling was done at 4/1 for October and 4/0¾ for December, but at the close there were sellers in Sterling for October at 4/1½ and for December at 4/0½.

Advices from London report the market likely therefore that our market will remain steady to firm around present levels.

While there are very few bills offering at present, there does not seem to be any particular demand for remittances.

Freight Market

Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows in their freight market report of Oct. 6:

The situation in our Outward Freight markets is as follows:

TO UNITED KINGDOM AND CONTINENT

Market conditions on this berth as outlined in our last issue remain unchanged and consequently at this moment there is ample space in vessels advertised to load on this berth.

TO UNITED STATES, OVERLAND AND VIA CANALS

There is no change to report on these berths and the export trade to the United States seems to have come to a "dead-stop" for the time being except for a little tea and even that season seems to be drawing to a close already.

COASTWISE

The market continues very dull and but for a slight demand from Northern Ports for the latter half of October loading, there is no improvement in the general situation.

Coal Market

Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows in their coal market report dated Oct. 6:

JAPAN COAL

Since last writing there has again been no new business done and the market has been very quiet but the time is approaching when negotiations for next year's contracts are about to be undertaken and sellers are instituting tentative enquiries as to consumers' probable future requirement.

Floods in adjacent country still interfere with deliveries, but the Shanghai market remains fairly firm with a gradually increasing demand. The situation in the whole East is certainly firmer owing to restricted output in several of the larger producing centers.

The Reply To Japan

THE Japanese note offering to negotiate on Shantung and China's reply yesterday recall the days spent in diplomatic sparring over the infamous Twenty-one Demands, with a slight difference. The Great Powers are not engaged in war, and are free to focus their attention upon the Far Eastern questions to be discussed at the Washington conference. Japan's day of enforcing her will on China by means of the well known club is past.

Japan offers China the shell of the nut, labels it the fulfilment of promise, and expects great credit redound to her name for sacrifice and generosity. That the desirable "favorable impression" abroad does not accrue seems painfully strange.

That Japan fears the Washington conference is one the early beliefs now dispelled. The procedure will be the same as at Paris, and with such likehood Japan knows how to put over the job nicely. She offers terms. China refuses. Therefore China will be discredited, and Japan may now await the conference with the glorious glow of self-righteousness. That the conference may find the terms too unfavorable to China does not occur to the Japanese mind.

China's assertion that with her declaration of war on Germany the lease of Kiaochao became void, and all rights thereof reverted to the Chinese government, is sound doctrine. The claim was disallowed at Paris because three of the Powers paid the price of Japan's participation by secretly agreeing to support her claims of the right of conquest.

It is remembered that Yuan Shih-kai offered to make war on Germany in August, 1914. The offer was refused at the instigation of Japan. If things had been allowed to take their natural course China would have recovered Kiaochao by herself, and there never would have been a Shantung question.

What makes the Japanese terms unacceptable is the provision to make permanent the property rights illegitimately acquired by Japan during this military occupation. Japan offers China the name of Kiaochao, but proposes to retain, under the title of "vested interests," all the properties taken by force and compulsion.

By threats to deny certain firms the use of the railway and docks the Japanese were able to acquire part interest in many concerns when the owners had no desire to sell. Japanese ownership of the business in Tsiangtao is almost complete. Small Chinese property holders on the outskirts were compelled to sell out to the Japanese at ridiculously low figures. These "vested interests" would be subject to reclamation by China at the end of the 99 year lease of Kiaochao. What Japan proposes in demanding a recognition of the "vested interests" is that the lease area shall be permanently Japanese through the eminent domain of her property holders, whose titles China considers illegitimate.

From the foreign point of view the greatest objection to the Japanese terms is the implied control by Japan of the port terminals, the wharves and communications. The stipulation regarding "vested interests," if granted, would permit Japan to continue to operate the transshipping of the port. The only satisfactory settlement of Shantung will allow for Consortium control of the railway until it can be incorporated into China's system of governmental railways, and the subjection of the port terminals to international control with equal privileges for all nations.

Japan has refused to withdraw her troops from Shantung until Chinese substitutes submit to Japanese officership. She also refuses to withdraw her troops from Siberia, which has caused a breakdown of the Dairen conference with the Chita government. Other nations, with railroad interests in China equal to and greater than those of Japan, dispense with guards. There are no British or French soldiers patrolling the railways in China. Why should there be Japanese, unless Japan has designs of military aggression?

It hardly seems probable that either Shantung or Japanese affairs in Siberia will be settled prior to the Washington conference. China's reply shows that the Japanese effort at settlement was not ignored. The reported breakup of the Dairen conference shows the determination of Chita to clear its country of Japanese troops before negotiating on trade, and this stand is taken in spite of the threat from Moscow to withdraw financial support unless the Far Eastern Republic shall settle its trade relations.

The conference will decide whether the Japanese "concessions," an unpopular word in Japan, were sufficient to merit acceptance by China and Siberia. The hardest lesson Japan has to learn is that restoration of property and sovereignty seized from weaker countries does not involve a loss of dignity. But the lesson must be learned sometime, as it has been by nations much longer accustomed to wielding world power.

No Cure For Epilepsy

BY WOODS HUTCHINSON

(Eminent Physician Whose Discourses on Health and Hygiene Have Been Followed with General Interest.)

It is an axiom in the medical profession that the longer the list of remedies recommended for any disease the more certain it is that none of them will cure it. Almost everything between the covers of the Pharmacopeia has been recommended at some time as a sovereign cure for epilepsy, whence it not unnaturally follows that after at least twenty centuries' experience we have no known cure for the disease and only one reasonable palliative—bromide of potassium.

It is, however, anything but a safe drug for indiscriminate use, either by the family or by a careless physician, because some individuals have a very marked susceptibility or idiosyncrasy to it and the exact dose for each particular case must be studied and worked out most carefully.

Careful attention to the general health and particularly to maintaining the full activity of the kidneys and bowels, is important and helpful in epilepsy, but that any case of epilepsy will ever be cured by treatment directed to digestion and the liver is quite hopeless.

Our great handicap in endeavoring to discover a remedy for epilepsy is that we know nothing positive or even reasonably probable about its cause. The most probable suggestion is that it is a form of cumulative self-poisoning a piling up in the system of either normal or abnormal waste products until a point of saturation and irritation is reached, when the nervous system can bear it no longer and goes off into a wild, uncontrollable explosion.

It is quite probable that the primary trouble is not in the brain or nervous system at all, but in one of the ductless glands such as the thyroid, the pituitary, or the adrenal, which falls to properly neutralise by its chemical action the waste poisons naturally produced in the body. Or it may be a fundamental defect in the chemical balance of all the tissues and fluids of the body.

Only one thing is certain, that the disease almost invariably begins in childhood and hence is probably due to a congenital cause, and second, that the tendency is strongly inclined to run in families.

It does not, however, "breed true," as the stock-breeders say. The children, for instance, of an epileptic parent may show their inborn and inherited nervous defect in the form of idiocy, insanity, feeblemindedness, drunkenness, pauperism or criminality. And if these should be unfortunate enough to marry, their children may again show the epileptic tendency. The moral of which is, for the individual, avoid marrying, or permitting your son or daughter to marry into an epileptic family as you would a pestilence.

If this were strictly done the disease would probably die out and disappear within three or four generations. For the community, it would be best to promote this intelligent self-production of the race stream in every way possible by education and by judicious legislation. At the same time it would be well to provide well equipped, and beautifully appointed homes and colonies in the country for those unfortunates when they have passed the age where they can be adequately shielded by parental care in their own homes.

I wonder if Jiggs knew this little song? Digging about in an old edition of "Pills to purge Melancholy" which was in vogue about the year 1700 I came across the following pathetic story—set to music by someone unkown—called

THE DUMB WIFE CURED

There was a bonny blade had married a country maid,
And safely conducted her home;
She was neat in every part,
And she pleased him to the heart,
But ah! alas! she was dumb;
She was bright as the day,
And brisk as the May,
And as round and as plump as a plum,
But still the silly swain could nothing but complain
Because that his wife was dumb.

She could brew and she could bake, she could sew and she could make,
And she could sweep the house with a broom,
She could, wash and she could ring, and do anything kind of thing,
But ah, and alas she was dumb.

To the doctor then he went
For to give himself content,
And to cure his wife of the mum.
"Oh, 'tis the easiest part which belongs unto my art,
To make a woman speak that is dumb."

* * *

To the doctor he did bring, and he cut her chatt'ring string,
At liberty he set her tongue;
Oh, her tongue began to walk,
And she began to talk,
As tho' she'd ne'er been dumb;
Her faculty she tries,
And she filled the house with noise,
And she rattled in his ears like a drum;
She bred a deal of strife, made him sick of his life,
He'd give anything again she were dumb.

To the doctor then he goes, and thus he vents his woes:
"O, doctor you have me undone,
For my wife she's turn'd a scold,
And her tongue can never hold,
I'd give anything she were dumb."
"When I did undertake
To make thy wife to speak,
O, it were a thing eas'ly done,
'Tis past the art of man,
Let him do whate'er he can,
For to make a scolding wife hold her tongue."

'Tis a true story mates, if sad, and only goes to show that it is well to leave well alone even in the year 1700—but in order to compensate mere man, let me give you e'en another clipping from the same ancient scroll which goes to show that masons—whether married or single—were able to enjoy life then as now.

THE FREE AND ACCEPTED MASON

Come let us prepare we brothers that are Met together on merry occasion,
Let us laugh, drink and sing, our wine is in spring,
'Tis a health to an accepted mason.

The world is in pain our secret to gain,
But still let them wonder and gaze on,
Till they're shown the light, they'll ne'er know the right
Word or sign of an accepted mason.

'Tis this and 'tis that, they cannot tell what,
Why so many great men in the nation
Should aprons put on to make themselves one
With a free or an accepted mason.

* * *

Then join hand in hand, to each other firm stand,
Let's be merry and put a bright face on,
What mortal can boast so noble a toast,
As a free or an accepted mason?

:-: Psychology Of A World In Revolt :-:

(A Review By J. W. DUFFIELD)

THE WORLD IN REVOLT: A Psychological Study of Our Times. By Dr. Gustave Le Bon. Translated by Bernard Miall. 256 Pages. New York: The Macmillan Company. $4 (gold).

The alternative title describes the more accurately of the two the character of this work, written by a French psychologist, eminent in his own country and of high international repute. Many of the facts collated and subjects treated are static rather than dynamic, and it is a world quite as much in distress and bewilderment as in active revolt that forms the premise from which his conclusions are drawn.

The keynote of the work is sounded in the author's introduction.

"Psychological forces," he writes, "in which moral activities are included * * * rule over all the departments of national life and determine the destinies of peoples."

How far he makes his thesis good is for the reader to determine. He himself admits that the science of psychology is, at its present stage, "very unreliable." He agrees that moral factors have no influence if they are opposed by material elements that are too strong for them. Still he holds with tenacity to the theory that the destiny of nations is woven above all from the qualities of men's minds, and supports his dictum with a wealth of facts that, if not always convincing, are at least plausible and interesting. If at times there are lacunae in his logic, a certain hazy and nebulous character attached to his conclusions, these are due rather to the "twilight zone" that surrounds his chosen science rather than to any lack of acumen in its disciple.

Internal evidence reveals that many of the chapters that compose the book were written in 1919, shortly after the conclusion of the war. The world of that time is pictured in a description by a Swiss writer, which the author quotes with approval:

"Never has such a terrible unleashing of rival cupidities and uncontrollable egoisms been seen: national egoism, class egoism, individual egoism. The world is like a vast menagerie, whose cages have all been opened."

Although since that time some of these egoisms may have been abated and a few of the animals returned to their cages, conditions have not so radically changed as to modify to any great extent the validity of the author's conclusions.

The explanation of the causes and results of the war and of the hysteria, distress and revolt that followed is sought by the author in psychology. The chapters in which he deals with the mentality of peoples are marked by rare penetration. Although fervently nationalistic, he is fully alive to the defects of his own countrymen, among which he lists nervousness, fear of responsibility, absence of initiative, love of routine and lack of co-ordination. Yet, despite these qualities, they faced a stronger enemy for four years with unblenching courage and finally triumphed. The explanation is found in what the author lays down as a psychological law:

"When under various influences one of the elements of the personality acquires a preponderant importance, it annuls for the time being the action of the other elements and assumes the exclusive control of conduct."

In other words, the orientation of all the faculties in one direction results in the creation of a force that proves irresistible. That force in this case was courage, derived from a long line of ancestors. Atavism played its part in driving back the invader. The qualities transmitted by fighting progenitors constituted the collective soul of France. That collective soul breast-the storm of German fury. "The Battle of the Marne that saved France in 1914," says the author in a striking passage, "was won by the dead!"

His dissection of the German character is, in the main, philosophical, and it is only at rare intervals that the scalpel of the vivisectionist becomes the knife of an enemy. He points to the prodigious blunders of the German psychology, that are so familiar now as to justify only passing mention; the needless invasion of Belgium that drew England into the war; the submarine campaign that caused America to throw in her lot with the Allies; the callous disregard of treaties that finally set the whole world in arms against her. He dwells on the fact that for international law Germany had substituted the biological law, that preceded the advent of civilisation and still exists among inferior races; the law by which the wolf eats the lamb and the strong beats down the weak without shame or consciousness of guilt.

It is not, however, the offenses of Germany against international law and morality that engage the attention of the author so much as the defective psychology that prompted her to embark upon a career of conquest. Peaceful expansion would much more quickly have secured her supremacy. "If Germany had waited only a generation," President Wilson is quoted as saying at Rome, "she would have possessed the commercial empire of the world." Even had she won the war, she would have incurred the hatred of the conquered peoples, would have had to be under enormous expense to repress revolts and would have robbed herself of her best customers. Victory would have ruined her, no less than defeat. The explanation of this madness is that the Germans were an industrial people, ruled by a military caste, ignorant of contemporaneous of the economic necessities of the age, added to which the propaganda of Germany's professors had perverted the mentality of the nation. The German mistakes rose not from fixed ideas—they were ready enough to adopt others if shown to be better—but fixed feelings, including pride, craving for domination and disdain of their adversaries; and these obscured their reason and proved their undoing.

Rather disquieting, indeed, is the small part assigned by the author to reason as a force in the guidance of the world. "It is only in the books of the professors," he says, somewhat acridly, "that reason directs history." So sure is he of this that, in his view, the arguments he puts forth to substantiate the statement claim credence more from their axiomatic character than from any word of demonstration that may be said in passing. Appetites, feelings and passions, he contends, hark back to the origins of life, and by their hereditary accumulation have acquired a weight against which reason, a comparative newcomer struggles in vain. Illusions have many times been as effective as truths. The absurdity of a belief has not militated against its acceptance. The crocodile and serpent have commanded the worship of millions. The mouthings of an epileptic in an Arabian tent produced the Saracen invasion that swept over parts of Europe and Asia and threatened to engulf the world. The belief in witchcraft had brought thousands to the stake. To the ancients it was not at all incredible that the sacrifice of a King's daughter should bring a favoring breeze to fill his vessels' sails.

Opinion then, and its offspring, belief, have ruled the world. The chief sources of opinion are affirmation, repetition, prestige, suggestion and mental contagion. Affirmation and repetition, if long enough continued, can transform the most patent errors into apparent truths. Prestige can overturn a dynasty, as was proved by Napoleon when he returned almost alone from Elba. The strength of suggestion is evidenced by the enormous results secured by subtle propaganda. Mental contagion, observable in animals as well as men, is the feeling of panic, hate, joy that spreads from one to another by reason of massed contact—the psychology of the crowd.

Since opinions and beliefs are the controlling elements in the world's life and development, the hope of the future lies in their being employed for beneficent ends. Intellect is not sufficient. The mind of a philosopher may mask the instincts of a scoundrel. It is the educated character rather than the educated intellect that is to be relied on "to bind the whole round world about the feet of God."

Considerable attention is given to the Bolshevist revolution in Russia and its repercussions upon the rest of the world. At the time of writing, the hideous catastrophe that has overtaken the communist regime had not reached its climax, but there was abundant evidence of its futility and of the destitution, despair and death into which it was dragging the Russian people. That the experiment was doomed to disaster from the beginning is deduced from the fact that it was centuries too late in starting. At a time when the feudal baron and his serf were about on a level in intelligence there might have been a chance of success or at least of only a comparative failure. But in this age, when brains are differentiated, when specialisation is the watchword and capacity in given lines is at a premium, the realisation of the dream was impossible. For the brutal excesses of Bolshevism he has abhorence; for its theories, the most profound contempt. That it is the negation of democracy, that the dictatorship of the proletariat is a more pitiless tyranny than the absolutism of a Czar; that it has given stones to those who cried for bread are emphasised as a warning to his own countrymen and other nations in Europe threatened by the Bolshevist infection.

The Russian debacle gives point also to the author's animadversions against the growing paternalism of States and Government interference with and regulation of private enterprises. That this was necessary in time of war he readily admits. That it should be continued in times of peace he regards as deplorable. He cites with approval the rapidity with which the United States, when it entered the war, mobilised all its resources and placed them under the control of the Government; but his admiration is quite as great for the promptness with which this control was removed, once the war was over. He is an intense individualist. Private initiative, stimulated by the risk of loss and chance of profit, is, he holds, the fundamental psychological basis of production. Let the individual be absorbed in the State and responsibility vanishes. He dare attempt nothing new, for if it fails he incurs odium. Stagnation is at least safe; hence he remains stagnant. State control means an immense increase in the number of employes, lessened production from each, a stifling of the creative intellect. It is the individual that counts, in industrial undertakings as in the command of armies. As illustration, the author quotes a reflection of Napoleon's recalled by Marshal Foch: "It was not the Roman legions that conquered Gaul, but Caesar; it was not the Carthaginian soldiers who shook Rome, but Hannibal; it was not the Macedonian phalanx that penetrated India, but Alexander!"

As regards the future, M. Le Bon is noncommittal. Too many factors enter in to make prediction safe. Besides, he opines that, like Cassandra, he would not be believed. Whatever he advances is hedged about by qualifications. If not dwelling in the direct shadow of pessimism, he is at least reached by its penumbra. Europe is still an armed camp. Germany, embittered by defeat, has undergone no real change of heart. The industrial recovery of France will be slow. The creation of the new and smaller States has simply multiplied occasions for warfare. Russia for a long time will be the nightmare of civilisation. The League of Nations is impotent, because it has no army to enforce its sanctions.

To what protective elements, then, may Europe look, however doubtfully, for a more or less lasting peace? The author tentatively suggests four: (1) people's aversion to war, of which they have felt the horrors and borne the burdens; (2) the progress of humanitarian ideas; (3) the necessities resulting from the increasing interdependence of nations; (4) recent scientific progress which creates engines of destruction whose action is so swift and so complete that no aggressor would dare to face them. If these prove insufficient—and the first two are brushed aside by the author as scarcely worthy of mention—the world may again be drenched in blood and sown with graves.

TEXACO

the Asphaltic Paint

Use Texacoat anywhere that rust need be avoided. It is a liquid asphaltic coating which forms a tough and durable weather-proof skin over any surface to which applied, filling in crevices where rust has started. Use it on metal or composition roofing, structural steel, smokestacks, or any other like surface. You may experiment freely because Texacoat contains no ingredients harmful to wood, metal or concrete.

Texacoat is weatherp roof because it is made of asphalt one of Nature's most effective water-proofing minerals. It will protect any surface from the action of weather, moisture, chemical fumes, salt air fumes, gas or smoke.

Keep a pail of Texacoat handy—it is easily applied with a brush, the same as any point. Frequent use will save you money.

THE WEEK'S MARKET REPORT

In the weekly report of the Shanghai Piece Goods Trade, Messrs. Noel, Murray and Company write as follows.

Cotton.—After touching 15.06d., Spot Good Middling Cotton in Liverpool dropped to 14.49d. and the forward positions declined to 14.08d. October, and 13.55d. January. Bengals and Egyptians have advanced to 10.15d. and 29.75d. respectively. In Bombay after reaching the zenith, Rs. 472, Rs. 549 and Rs. 626, F. G. Bengals, Fine Oomras and F. G. Broach have fallen away to Rs. 444, Rs. 516 and Rs. 598. In New York yesterday a fall was also experienced; Spot fell to 20.10 cents, December to 19.56, March to 19.05 and May to 18.65 cents. The crop in America is spoken of as a calamity, the forecast of the Agricultural Bureau is 6,530,000 bales, or 42.2 percent of a normal crop; a decline from 49.3 percent, the estimate at the end of August. The average yield for the past ten years have been 62.4 percent. Boll-weevils during August and September caused a loss of 1,666,000 bales of cotton and an army of other pests are devouring the leaves from the plants over large areas of country. The farmers are resolved to plough early for next year's crop, and so to destroy the boll-weevils in the winter.

Home Market.—The higher prices for cotton must prepare everybody for advances in the quotations for cloth, in addition to which, there seems every possibility at the moment of a collapse in exchange, but on that point we are unable to find a prophet. Great Britain does not seem to be at an end of her coal and labor troubles and we are evidently on the eve of further difficult times. It is gratifying to learn that during the recent spurt in silver quite a lot of the old accounts have been squared up or arranged for and in such cases the expected losses have been substantially reduced and in that respect, the atmosphere is much clearer.

Local Market.—The outlook continues to be hopeful and even from the up-river ports where fighting has been in full swing, orders have been received this week, which has put some life into the market and this was especially noticeable at the auctions which were expected to be no more than steady at the best. Privately holders have not been anxious to sell, but clearances have been on a good scale, but for imports and locally made yarn and cloth. A big movement on the part of the Japanese, who have been sellers of gold yen for some days past, has come to an end, and from all appearances, it is reasonable to conclude that something serious is happening to the Emperor of Japan; recent telegrams regarding his health have been alarming.

Financial.—Stocks of silver have continued to shrink and they now stand at Tls. 22,045,000 in Sycee and Bars and $24,500,000, the native holdings included in these figures being Tls. 7,050,000, and $12,630,000.

Yarn.—Indian sorts have been the best sellers this week, but the sales total only 1,250 bales. For retailing purposes 6,500 bales of local yarn have been requisitioned.

Auctions.—Offerings this week totalled 35,729 pieces and the first line to show an improvement were White Shirtings at Kung Ping on Tuesday and these goods also did well today, Korea coming into the arena, exchange having turned in her favor once more. The Greys were in and out, some weights being in request and others neglected. There were several good spots in Italians and they ended up strongly today. Venetians were steady. Velvets again improved.

ROSENFELD REPORT

Messrs. A. B. Rosenfeld and Son write as follows in their weekly cotton market report.

China Cotton.—The market during the past week has been very quiet with nothing to report. The weather has been good and picking is going on very satisfactorily. Arrivals are yet small, but in a fortnight or so these will be greatly increased and we anticipate that the farmers will by then show some weakening in their prices.

Yarn.—During the past week there has been no change in the fundamental conditions of the yarn market. Fluctuations were within narrow limits and with a steady tendency at the close of the week. Some 2,000 to 3,000 bales of local spinnings have been booked for export to Tsingtao, Newchwang, Kiangse, Anhwei, Canton and Swatow. Deliveries continue good.

SPUNT AND COMPANY

Messrs. J. Spunt and Company write as follows in their weekly cotton market report.

China Cotton:—Since the issue of our last circular our market was enlivened by a fair amount of enquiries from native spinners for the Shanghai Staple, which eventuated in a fair volume of stocks being purchased by them at prices about one tael per picul higher than that prevailing in the preceding period and culminating in the rates evolving a firmer tendency at the close.

The U. S. Bureau report of October 2, 1921, indicating its estimate of this season's crop at 42.2 percent of its approximate equivalent as being 6,500,000 bales is undoubtedly engendering a bullish outlook for the present, and as to whether prices will decline or advance in the near future seems to depend upon whether those who own this crop will be more eager to sell than Spinners are to buy. Tone of the market, Firm.

Admiral Palmer Describes German Fleet's Surrender At University Club Tiffin

Scene Grandly Impressive And At Same Time Sad, He Says—J. E. Baker Who Directed Famine Work Also Is Heard

The dramatic story of the surrender of the German fleet in the North Sea was told the American University Club at tiffin yesterday by Admiral L. C. Palmer (Retired) of the American Navy, who was with Admiral Sir David Beatty of the British fleet at the surrender.

Admiral Palmer described the scene as grandly impressive, and at the same time sad, because of the weak hearted manner in which the Germans surrendered without firing a shot.

"I was with Admiral Beatty on his flagship, the Queen Elizabeth," Admiral Palmer said, "when the German admiral came aboard about nine o'clock at night. Instead of being greeted with the honors due him as an admiral he was met by a sub-lieutenant and escorted through two lines of marines with bayonets fixed.

"He was ushered into a reception room and had to wait about ten minutes before Admiral Beatty came in. He explained his visit, and said that he had come to talk over the terms of the surrender. Admiral Beatty laid a typewritten page before him, saying that that was the terms of surrender and that he would be back in two hours.

END OF GERMAN FLEET

"The American and British fleets sailed that night in two long lines, and early the next morning met the Cardiff, which was leading the German fleet to the point of surrender. The five German cruisers, nine battleships, fifty destroyers and other auxiliary vessels, sailed in between the Allies fleet lines and into the Firth of Forth. There Admiral Beatty gave orders for them to haul down the German ensign. That was the end of the German fleet. It was impressive, and yet sad. We thought no people on earth would surrender such a magnificent fleet without at least firing one shot."

Admiral Palmer then told of how Admiral Rodman, the jolly commander of the American fleet, joked with the British admirals of the fleet, and with the King, Queen and Prince of Wales when they came to visit the fleets.

"I had been showing the Prince of Wales about the New York, our flagship, one afternoon," he said, "when I heard sounds of loud laughter coming from the admiral's cabin. We entered and found that Admiral Rodman had told the King one of his famous jokes."

TELLS OF FAMINE WORK

J. E. Baker, Wisconsin '06, who headed the Red Cross famine relief work in China, also spoke briefly after tiffin.

Mr. Baker's talk, mostly statistical, revealed that the Red Cross had helped 900,000 people over the peak of the famine and employed 161,000 workers who built 850 miles of roadway. The workers were all paid in grain, 15,000 tons being purchased to pay them.

In addition to the roadway 3,632 wells were drilled and lined with brick 40,000 trees planted, and 600 culverts built in one stretch of road 213 miles long in mountainous country. The 213 miles, in addition to the culverts, includes one bridge 80 feet high and 150 feet long with five sans. The mountain roads were paved with gravel, crushed rock or macadam, and the other roadway was built higher than the native roads so that it will with stand the water better.

Mr. Baker gave the expense of building the roads at $1,400,000 gold, and declared that they would save $5,000,000 per annum in transportation charges.

Mr. A. R. Hager presided.

Men Held As Counterfeiters May Have Had Authority Of Canton, Is Defense Offered

Inference that the defendants were working under authority from the Canton government, that the coins turned out were not spurious and the contention that none of them were put in circulation here were features injected into the Hongkew counterfeiting case by the defense when the twenty accused came to trial yesterday afternoon in the Mixed Court.

Mr. Clifford Hewitt, expert of international reputation who is to supervise erection of the new mint here, declared the coins seized in the raid on the plant to be so excellent in finish that only an assay could determine whether they are spurious. An analysis made for the police of three of the coins resulted in a report that they are false, but to this the defense replies that analysis of only three coins is not adequate proof and submits that coins of the Kwangtung government may contain a lower fineness of silver than those authorised by the Peking government.

HEARING IS LONG

The case came before Assessor Allman and Magistrate Tsang and after a hearing which lasted all afternoon, was adjourned until next Tuesday. Mr. R. C. Faithfull prosecuted for the police and Mr. P. Goldring and Mr. F. J. Schuhl appeared for the defendants. The latter overflowed considerably from the dock and the floor space before the bench was covered with paraphernalia from the coining plant.

Police testimony was given by Inspector MacGregor and Detective Sergeant Conduit regarding the raid, which occurred on September 27 at 153A North Kiangse Road. Seventeen of the defendants were arrested at that time. Of the lot sixteen are said to be Cantonese and the other four Kompo men. The latter, Mr. Faithfull said, have made statements to the authorities.

Mr. Hewitt, called as the first witness, said he could not tell if the coins—all twenty-cent pieces—were genuine or not without an assay. The authorised quantities of metal for such coins is 700 fine silver and 300 fine copper. He considered the coin exhibited a most dangerous one and would have no suspicion in accepting it in the ordinary course of things. There was no authorised mint in Shanghai at present, he said, and private mints were against the law. He stated that the coins had been made with a master hub and die, things held sacred by governments, because without them no false coin could be made which could not be detected. It was his very first experience with such equipment in connection with a counterfeiting case.

HINTS AUTHORITY

It was at this juncture that Mr. Goldring asked if it were not the witness' impression that such machinery had been obtained only from the proper source and requested the Court to take into consideration that Kwangtung was now a separate republic, with its own government and laws. These coins were stamped as Kwangtung coins. The Assessor inquired if Mr. Goldring wished the Court to take cognisance of the secession of the South and pointed out that on the reverse of the coin, in Chinese characters, were the words "Republic of China."

When the prosecution had concluded Mr. Goldring asked the dismissal of the charge on the ground that the police had failed to prove the coins spurious, that, for all anyone knew, they might have been struck under authority of the Kwangtung government and because there was no proof that any of the coins had been put into circulation here. Mr. Schuhl contended that the Court could not hold the coins to be counterfeit coins of the Northern government as it must know that the Canton mint is under control of the Southern government. As a matter of fact, he argued, all Kwangtung coins in circulation here might be said not to be coins of the government.

The Court expressed a desire to hear evidence of some of the defendants and this was begun, after which the hearing was adjourned.

Fires Break Out In Two Cotton Mills

Quick work by the Fire Department prevented a what might well have been a disastrous blaze at the Oriental Cotton Mill yesterday afternoon. The outbreak occurred on the first floor of the old portion of the mill, used as a mixing room, and when the firemen arrived they found a large quantity of cotton ablaze. The dense smoke hampered the efforts of the mill staff but the prompt laying on of two lines of hose checked the flames. Four mixing machines and a considerable quantity of cotton were damaged by fire and water.

While this fire was in progress there was another outbreak at the Pao Cheng Cotton Mill outside the Settlement at Robison and Kweichow Roads. Sinza division of the departments on arrival found the mill staff fighting a blaze in the air shaft of the picker room. It was soon extinguished with little damage.
